Accounting Policies

Applying estimates:

Preparing financial statements and applying accounting policies require the Company's Management to make some estimates and jurisprudences that may affect the financial statements and the accompanying notes. Such estimates are based on assumptions of different accuracy and certainty. Therefore, the actual results in the future may differ from the Management's estimates due to variations in the assumptions conditions and circumstances on which such estimates based on.

Below are the most important estimates applied in the preparation of the financial statements:

- The Management estimates the productive life of the tangible assets on a periodic basis for the purposes of calculating the annual depreciations based on the general condition of such assets and the estimates of the productive life expected in luture. The impairment loss (if any) is stated in the income statement.
- The Management reevaluates the productive life estimate of the tangible assets on a periodic basis for the purposes of calculating the annual depreciations based on the general condition of such assets and the productivity life expected in future. The impairment loss (if any) is reflected in the income statement.
- The Management conducts periodic review to the financial assets which are reflected at cost to estimate any impairment in their value and state such impairment in the income statement.
- The Company's Management estimates the value of the provision for bad debts taking in consideration the possibility of colleting such liabilities.

Cash and cash equivalent:

The cash and cash equivalent is represented by the cash with banks and investments convertible to certain liquid cash. They become due within a period not exceeding three months and they don't involve risks of change in value.

Accounts receivable

The accounts receivable are reflected at cost after deducting the provision for bad debts. The debts are written off when there is subjective evidence on the possibility of not collecting the liabilities. The amounts collected from written-off debts are added to the revenues.

Accounting Policies

Financial assets at amortized cost

The financial instruments such as the bills receivable, accounts receivable, due to banks, loans, accounts payable and accrued expenses are demonstrated at amortized cost by using the actual revenue method after deducting any impairment loss.

- Financial assets defined by the fair value from the comprehensive income statement:

The change differences are recorded in the fair value of the financial assets defined at the fair value from the other comprehensive income. The limited value financial assets in the other comprehensive income statement that have market prices in active financial markets are demonstrated at the fair value after deducting the impairment accumulated losses in their fair value.

The limited value financial assets in the other comprehensive income statement that don't having market prices and which their fair value could not be reliably defined are demonstrated at the cost and any impairment in their value is recorded in the other comprehensive income statement.

The profits and losses resulting from the differences of converting foreign currencies to interest-bearing debentures are recorded at the fair value through the other comprehensive income statement, while the differences of converting the foreign currency to equity instruments are recorded in the accumulated change in the fair value within the equity rights.

Property, equipment, and accumulated depreciation:

Properties and equipment are demonstrated at cost after deducting the accumulated depreciation. They are depreciated when they are ready for use on the basis of the straight-line method over their expected productivity life by using the following annual rates:

Furnishings and furniture, and decorations

Office supplies and computers

When the recoverable amount of any property or equipment is less than their book value, their value shall be diluted and the remaining book value over the productivity life is depreciated after reassessment as of the reassessment year.

Accounts payalbe and accruals

The accounts payable and accruals are recognized upon benefiting from the service by the company whether claimed by the supplier or not.

Accounting Policies

Setoff

The financial assets and financial liabilities are set-off and the net amount is reflected in the financial statements upon the availability of the binding legal rights, and when they are settled on the setoff basis or the assets realization and liabilities settlements take place at the same time.

Provisions

Provisions are recorded when there are legal or expected obligations on the company as a result of previous events where cash amounts are likely to be paid to fulfill such obligations. On the date of the financial position, the allocated provisions are reviewed and adjusted based on the latest information available to the Management.

Recognition of revenues

The commission revenues are realized upon the completion of buying or selling shares to the company's clients and issuing invoice to the client.

The interests revenues are recognized on a time base to reflect the actual revenue on assets.

The distribution of the investment profits is recognized upon being approved by the General Assemblies of the investment companies.

The other revenues are recognized in accordance with the accrual basis.

Date of financial assets recognition

The buying or selling financial assets is recognized at the trading date (the date of the company's commitment to sell or buy financial assets.)

Impairment in the financial assets

The company reviews the value of the financial assets stated in the eompany's records at the date of the financial statements to determine if there are indications to impairment in their value. In case of such indications, the recoverable fair value of the assets is estimated to define the impairment loss. In case the recoverable value is less than the net book value stated in the company's records, the impairment value is reflected in the comprehensive income statement.

Income Tax

The Company is subject to the Income Tax Law, as amended, and the instructions issued by the Income Tax Department in the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. The book takes place in accordance with the accrual basis where the provision for income tax is calculated on the adjusted profit basis.
